County Board District Profile Reports

October 14, 2003

This report was prepared in response to several requests from county board members for demographic and other profile information for county board districts.

The report is intended to provide the following information for each county board district:

1. Demographics from the 2000 Census, including breakdowns by race, ethnicity and age groups.

The U.S. Census Bureau treats Hispanic/Latino statistics as an ethnic category, not a race. This total is provided separately. The totals by race include persons who also identified themselves as Hispanic/Latino.

2. Demographics for each school district and municipality which intersects with each county board district. For example, if the Village of Happy Valley is partially in a county board district, the report provides a profile of the citizens who are in that portion of the county board district. These statistics are also presented for the unincorporated areas in each county board district. This is based on municipal and school district boundaries as they were at the time of the 2000 Census.

3. The number of registered voters in the incorporated and unincorporated portions of the district. This information is current as of the publication date of this report, and the determination of incorporated versus unincorporated areas is based on current municipal boundaries.

Registered voter statistics were provided by the office of the Lake County Clerk.

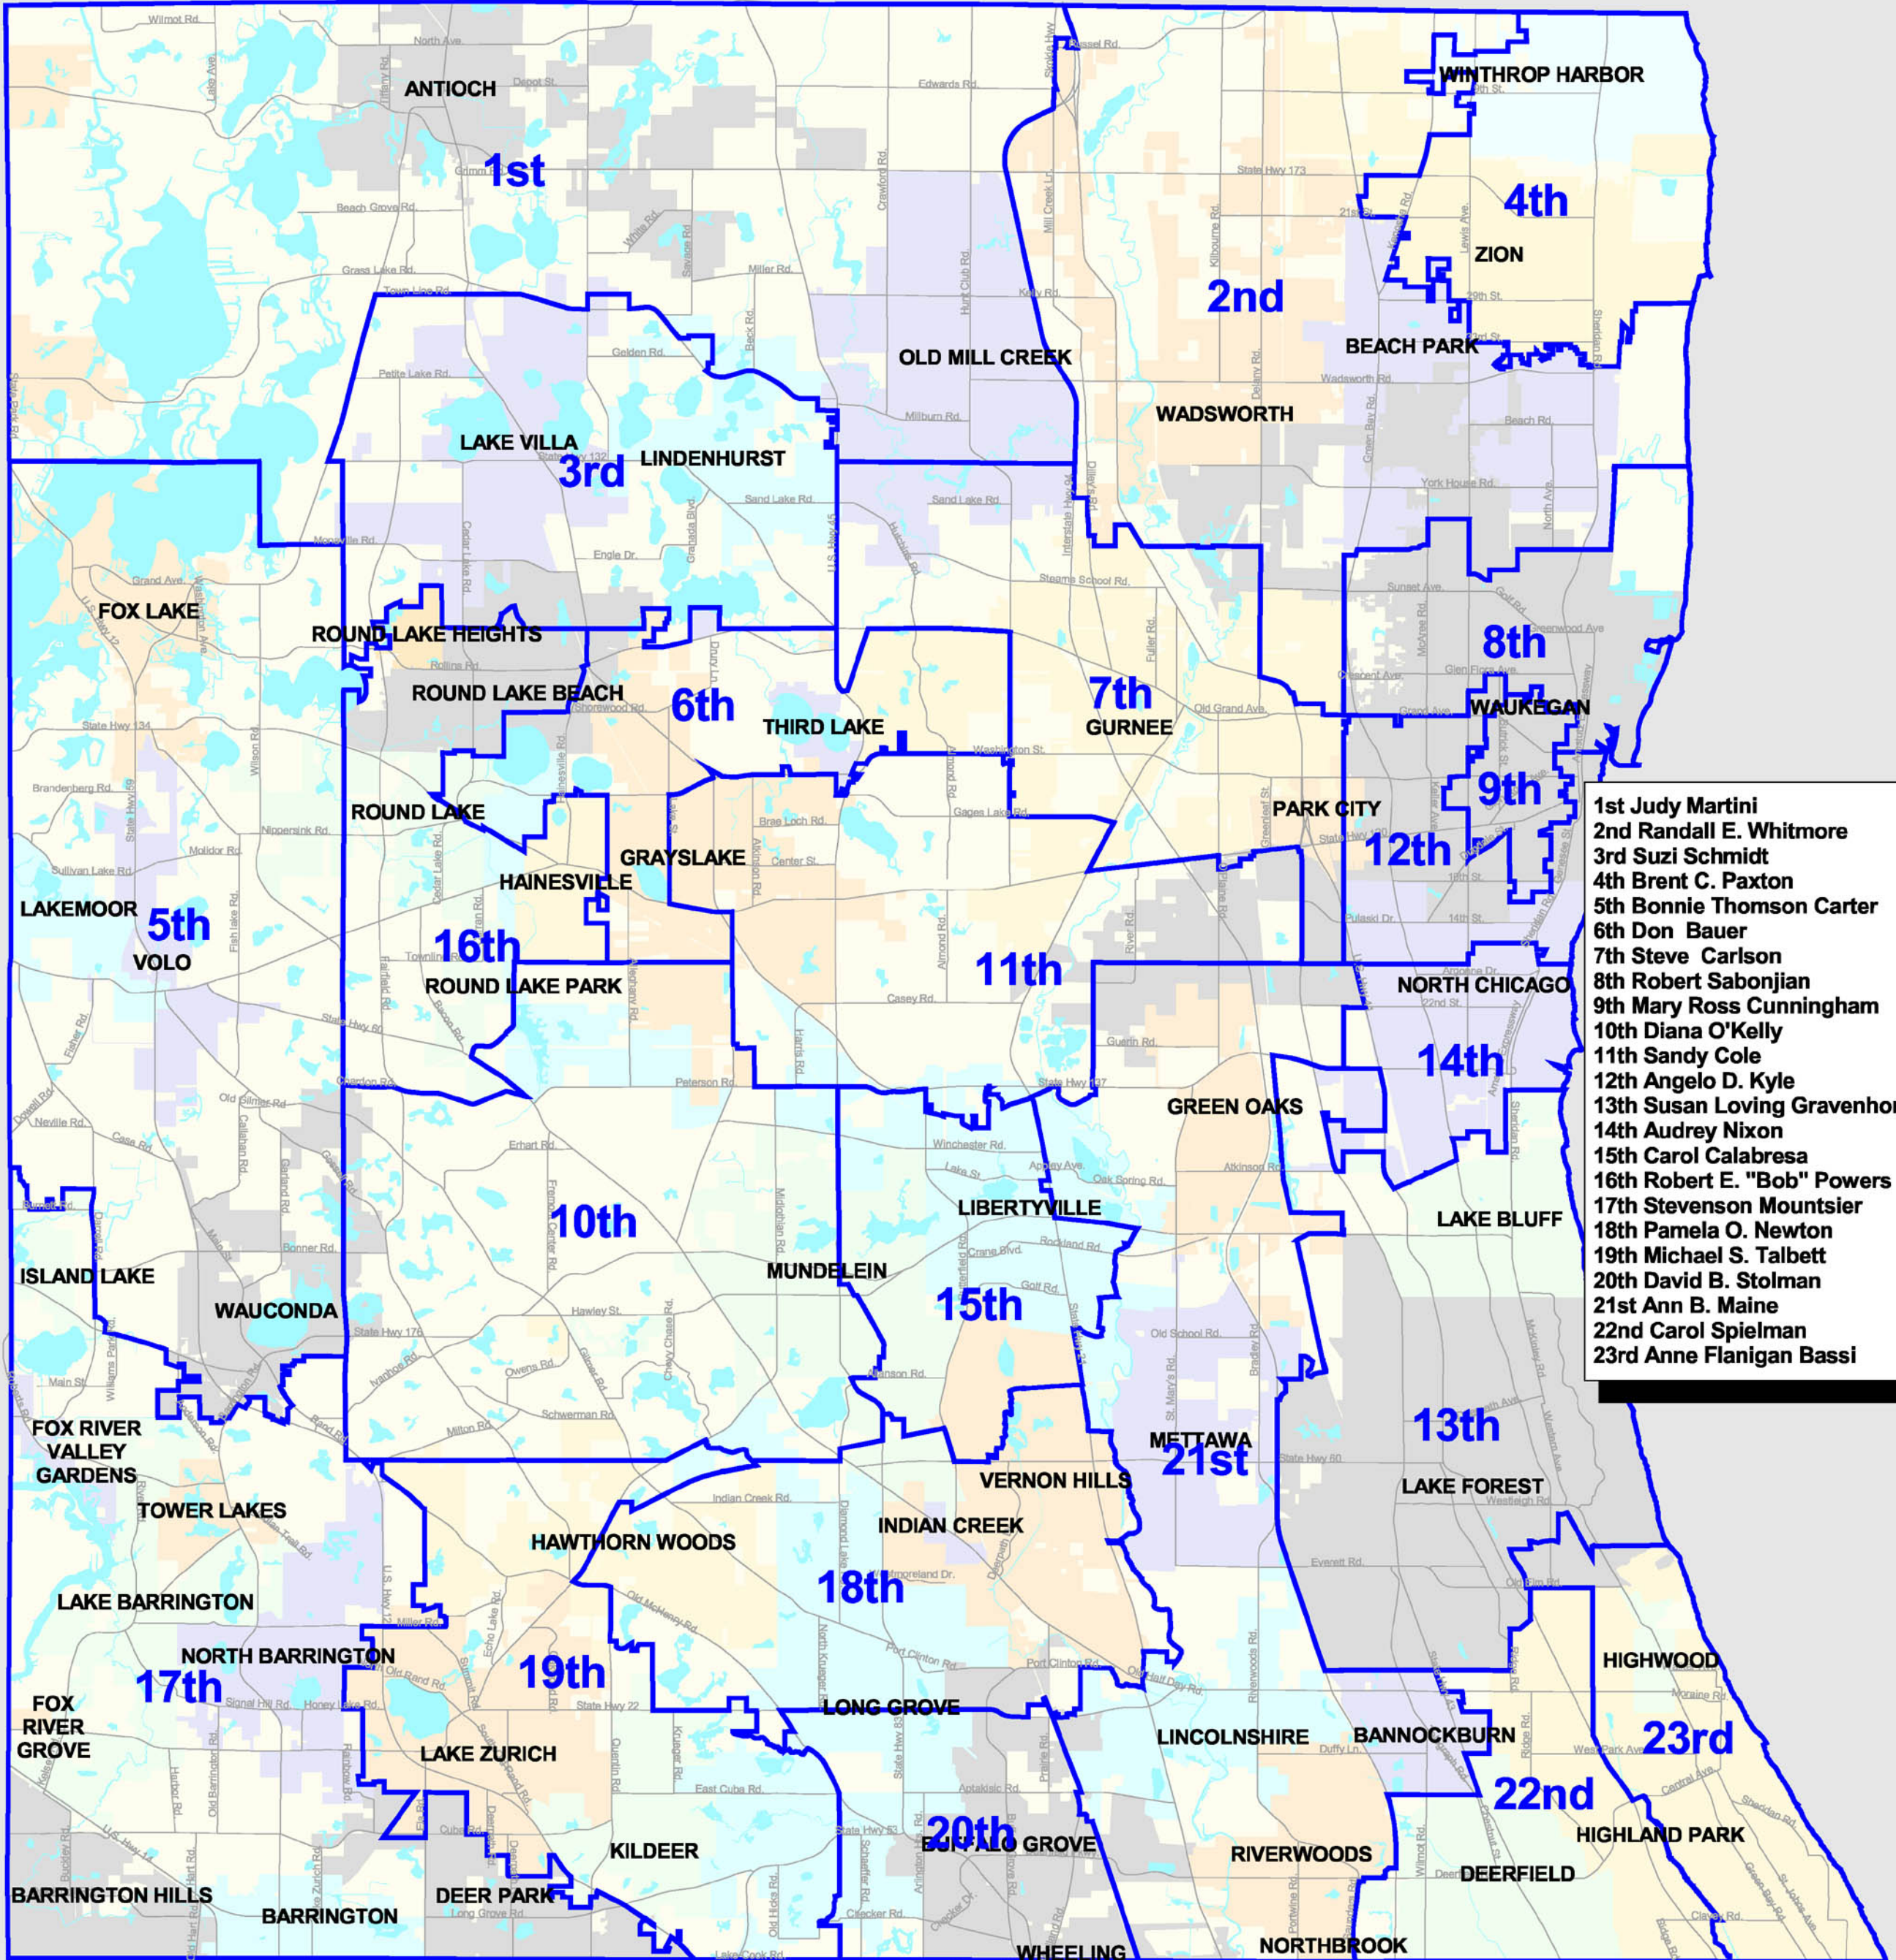

4. How much tax exempt acreage is in the district, and the percent of the total area that it represents.

5. The identity of any forest preserves that intersect the district, and how many acres each represents.

6. The identity of all other taxing agencies and elective districts which intersect with the county board district. This includes fire protection districts, library districts, state representatives, etc. This list is based on current boundaries for these other districts, including municipal annexations which have taken place since the 2000 Census.
